⚠ Watch for Better Price Action

Given the current market volatility, geopolitical risks, and mixed economic indicators, it's advisable to watch for better price action before making any trading decisions.

Detailed Justification

The current market conditions, characterized by neutral sentiment, extreme fear according to the Fear & Greed Index, and a flat yield curve, suggest a cautious approach. The geopolitical risks, particularly the high-impact US-China tensions and the severe Russia-Ukraine conflict, further complicate the investment landscape. Given these factors, along with the mixed signals from fundamental metrics and macroeconomic indicators, it's prudent to watch for better price action before making any trading decisions.
